Working at the University of Music FRANZ LISZT Weimar

We would be happy to greet you as part of our international, innovative university family. With us, you can play a part in training young musicians, teachers, and scholars. We are constantly further developing our teaching and support modern administrative structures. Because we are a small university with only approximately 900 students and 200 teaching and admin staff you will experience flat hierarchies and personal exchanges with colleagues.

You can read more about our values in our mission statement.

Working and living in Weimar

Weimar is a young cultural city, which is characterized by a high quality of living. The historical architecture and the parks embedded in the townscape establish Weimar's wellbeing factor. Goethe and Schiller, Bach and Liszt, the Cranachs and Gropius, and many other prominent personalities determine the town's identity even today. Institutions rich in tradition, and a multitude of small cultural institutions form a unique, lively microcosm of culture.
