COVID-19 INFORMATION

No one can predict at the moment what the situation will be in July, what the quarantine regulations will be, whether travel will be possible again without restrictions, whether face-to-face classes will be allowed to take place ...

The organisers are doing everything they can to ensure that the Weimar Master Classes are held safely: large course rooms will be available, there will be opportunities for sufficient distance, and a wide range of hygiene measures will be taken. By registering, you agree to the preventive measures in force at the time of the event.

If you are unable to travel to Weimar for pandemic reasons and we receive your cancellation before the course begins, we will refund the participation fee. We ask for your understanding that travel expenses already paid cannot be refunded. The registration fee will only be refunded if the course is cancelled by the organiser.

It is also not certain whether the orchestra studio can take place as planned. To be on the safe side, we recommend applicants to choose works with smaller instrumentation if possible.
